A wide-angle photograph of a beach completely covered in plastic waste and debris. The trash, including bottles, bags, and other unidentifiable pieces of plastic, stretches across the entire width of the frame from the foreground to the water's edge. The ocean is visible in the background under a clear blue sky. The text "Together, We Can Make The Switch From Plastic Happen." is overlaid in white on a semi-transparent green rectangular background in the upper right quadrant.
